

Dear Families,

As the colder months approach, we want to ensure the comfort and safety of all our students during outdoor activities. To streamline our preparations and make the transition to colder weather smoother, we kindly request your assistance in helping your children with jacket-related tasks.

Putting on Jackets: Help your child to independently put on their jacket. This skill not only fosters self-sufficiency but also saves valuable classroom time. Practice daily

Inside-Out Sleeves: Please teach your child how to identify and correct inside-out sleeves. This small skill can prevent unnecessary frustration during jacket time.

Zipping Up: If your child's jacket has a zipper, help them practice zipping it up and down smoothly. This will contribute to their independence and confidence.

Hoodies: For those with hoodies, show your child how to put on and secure the hood properly. It's crucial for keeping them warm during chilly weather.

We understand that mastering these tasks may take time, but with your support and guidance, we believe your child can become proficient in these essential skills.

By working together on these preparations, we can ensure a more efficient and enjoyable outdoor experience for your child and their classmates. We greatly appreciate your cooperation in helping us create a warm and safe environment as the temperature drops.

Thank you for your continued support in your child's education.
